

Weekly Update

Reflecting Our Region Through Art – April 21, 2025

Art remains a key component of transforming PIT, as a way to inject culture, life and beauty into our facilities.

The newest addition to that goal comes in the renovated restrooms in Concourse D where new glass panel art has been installed.

This piece by Pittsburgh artist Christine Lorenz uses polarizing filters and magnification to show unique views of salt found in Pennsylvania watersheds, connecting to the nature of our area through the NaTeCo theme.

In all, 80 percent of the new art at PIT is created by local artists.

PIT aims to reflect, connect and serve our region by connecting passengers to artists of our region.

Each of the 11 renovated restroom banks will feature glass art from a range of four artists, one in each concourse. These pieces will continue to be installed in the coming months.

PIT continues to bring spaces to life through artwork as it transforms the travel experience for all.